Sharing of practical learnings on technical safety aspects at operations with hazardous chemicals

KEY NOTE SPEAKERS:

Joe Maenen is one of the workers that survived the devastating fire on the Piper Alpha platform on July 6 1988, with 167 fatalities. His horrible experience is breath-taking.

Nils Bosma is guiding technical safety in the Netherlands at several organisations. He was part of the incident investigation team of a refinery fire in Singapore in 2010. The learnings of this incident will be shared.

Mark Hailwood is a lead process safety specialist working for LUBW (Landesanstalt für Umwelt Baden-Württemberg). The fatal Leverkusen Currenta incident will be discussed from perspective of the German authorities.
